SUBJECT: INTRODUCING EFFICIENCIES IN THE OUTLOADING OF GRAIN AT STORAGE LOCATIONS

Name and Surname: Raphael Karuaihe
Designation: Head: Commodities

Dear Industry Stakeholder,

Please feel free to distribute to any interested parties.

This is a follow up to Market Notice 139/2017 dated 5 April 2017 in which the JSE provided a blueprint of how to address out-loading issues at JSE-registered storage sites where all queries received from the market will be recorded in a logbook. The JSE also committed to publish on the JSE website a schedule of activities at storage locations that will impact access to these sites and delay out-loading.

We are pleased to inform you that the webpage is now ready and storage operators can download the excel spreadsheet with all JSE-registered storage locations, filter their specific locations, and identify those where there are issues and then submit to the JSE. There is provision for comments where the operator can update the market what the issues are and until when the identified silo location will be out of business, and if arrangements can be made to outload at alternative locations.

Because the site is available to all market participants, it also allows anyone to log in any queries one has with any silo location. At the moment all these submissions must first be sent to commodities@jse.co.za and we will then ensure that the website is updated with new information as we receive them. The idea is that in future any silo operator or anyone with a query can upload information directly on the website.

Please refer to attached excel spreadsheet that is also downloadable from our website at <https://www.jse.co.za/trade/derivative-market/commodity-derivatives/agricultural-derivatives/agriculture-futures-and-options/physical-delivery>. You will notice that we have already loaded the two updates received from Senwes regarding their two silos, namely, Petrusburg and Hartswater. These incidences are already shared with the market in a separate market notice.

We will continue to monitor progress on this and we welcome any comments and suggestions to improve the usefulness of this service on an on-going basis.

Should you have any queries regarding this notice, please contact commodities@jse.co.za.
