Equity Derivative Market Technical Outages Feedback

Further to Market Notice F4893 (Equity Derivative Technical Outages and Feedback) on Friday 12 August 2011, the JSE indicated that we will provide feedback on solutions for the outages previously experienced on the Equity Derivative Market.

A software error has been identified in the communication layer of the solution supporting the Equity Derivative market. The JSE received a new version of the software from our software provider and have successfully completed testing. The new version will be implemented this weekend. It can at this stage not be conclusively proven that the error identified is the sole reason for the outages that were experienced, and further work continues to ensure the stability of the platform.
