Revision of JSE minimum bandwidth requirements for Equity Market public data

Due to the ongoing increase in JSE Equity Market message volumes, it has become necessary for the JSE to revise the minimum bandwidth requirements for the Equity Market public data published via JSE InfoWiz. The graph below shows the number of public data messages broadcast to the market over the last few months.

With effect from 1 November 2011, the new JSE minimum bandwidth requirements for the receipt of Equity Market public data will be 2 Megabits (Mb). JSE Customers should note that this EXCLUDES any bandwidth required for trading, access to JSE test services, BDA connectivity or other JSE services or markets. JSE Customers are therefore urged to conduct comprehensive analysis to determine their total bandwidth requirements for all JSE services or markets.

Given the trend in the Equity Market public data message growth, the JSE recommends that customers upgrade beyond the new minimum requirement to at least 3 Mb to cater for potential future message growth.
